Edford Motors Officially Opens Saturday, Dec. 7

Wednesday noon marks the closing of an old established firm, Adhead Garage, and the starting of a new firm, Edford Motors, owned and operated by Ed Ford.

Adhead Garage was started in Didsbury by Mr. C.H. Adhead in 1921 and operated by him until 1938 when he sold out to Mr. Ed Ford, the present proprietor. Mr. Ford continued the business under the old firm name, but owing to increased business decided to construct a new building to take care of expansion.

On June 1st of this year work started on the dismantling of the old garage building and after six months of construction the new structure has been completed, and the official opening will take place on Saturday, December 7th. In order to prepare for the opening day the garage will be closed from Wednesday noon, Dec. 4, until Saturday morning, December 7th.

Edford Motors new building is the most modern and up-to-date garage structure in any country point in Alberta according to the building inspector who recently visited Didsbury. It is of cinder cement block construction throughout, size 125x78 feet, and contains modern stock room, show room, private office, bookkeeper's office, work shop 75x78, body and paint shop, tool room for special equipment, implement shop 27x32 for assembling and servicing farm machinery. Ladies and gents rest rooms are provided, the latter having lockers and shower baths for the workmen. The building is steam heated with overhead radiators and fans, thermostatically controlled. Two main entrance doors, 12x12, and 10x12, are hydraulically operated, with lubrication hoist inside the smaller door.

The shop area is roomy without posts or other obstruction, and includes all modern equipment, with two hydraulic hoists, one for passenger cars and the other for trucks up to ten tons.

The new Edford Motors building is a decided asset to our town and a credit to the young proprietor who came to Didsbury in 1922 and started as an apprentice under Mr. Adhead. He continued with the firm until taking full control in 1938, and has steadily progressed since that time, and we join with others in wishing him success in his new set-up.

TOWN TO PAY MORE FOR HEALTH SERVICE DURING YEAR 1947

The Council of the Town of Didsbury met in regular session on Monday evening, December 2nd, and with the absence of special delegations the business was completed in record time.

Secretary reported the sale of the "Pyke" property in town to A. Gillette, and a number of applications were received for town building lots.

The Municipal Inspector's report was received and showed all records as being maintained in a very satisfactory manner.

A communication from the Rosebud Health District advised that owing to the increased operating costs the 1947 requisition will be 11.5% higher. This will mean approximately $50 more to be paid by the Town next year towards the operating of the Health Unit.

Council endorsed a resolution from the Health League of Canada, urging governments of all the provinces to pass by laws providing for compulsory pasteurization of all milk sold for human consumption. A communication from Hadden and Miles stated that materials for the water and sewerage project are difficult to obtain, and Council requested that this firm of Consulting Engineers make a detailed survey and complete all plans so that the necessary material can be ordered immediately.

In order to encourage skating activities in town Council allowed the caretaker of the rink an additional 1000 feet of lumber to repair fences, etc.

GOOD TURN OUT AT WESTCOTT W.I. MEET AT THE KLINCK HOME

The Westcott W.I. met at the home of Mrs. Kluck Sr. on Thursday, November 28th with ten members and one visitor present. The meeting opened in the usual manner and roll call was answered by giving one preventative for colds.

It was voted to have the Christmas "Pie" again this year and each member is to put in a home made apple.

It was decided that the Institute sponsor a whist drive, to be held in the Westcott school Thursday evening, December 12th at 8 p.m. sharp and lunch will be provided by the members. Everyone welcome.

The two five-minute educational talks were given by Mrs. J. Robertson, who chose "Christmas Legends" as her topic, and by Mrs. Ed Kluck, who chose "How the Pickling House By Products Serve Humanity."

Being Thanksgiving Day in the States, "Carry Me Back to Old Virginia" was sung by the members.

Mrs. Sheldon Owens sent her topic "as she is teaching school on the Liqueur Question, and the paper was read by our new bride, Mrs. Gordon Ford. She also sent leaflets on "Behind the Blind" (an X-ray of a bar room) showing the sign of "young men wanted" (easy money, start at the bottom and work down) signed "The Booze Business". These facts echo and echo the warning that "Something Must Be Done."

The chocolate cookies were judged by our visitor, Mrs. Frank Summersville, honors going to Mrs. Harry Levagood and Mrs. J. Robertson.

The bit of fun for the afternoon was taken by Mrs. Levagood.

Meeting closed with the singing of "Silent Night."

The next meeting will be held on Friday, December 27th, instead of Thursday, the 26th, at the home of Mrs. O. Swanley. Don't forget your article for the Christmas pie, and come with lots of suggestions for the 1947 program.

Farmers To Get Extra 10 Cents For 1945-46 Crop

Trade Minister MacKinnon announced last week the completion of arrangements for payment to prairie farmers of an additional 10 cents a bushel on wheat delivered in the 1945-46 crop year.

In a statement, Mr. MacKinnon said the adjustment would mean the distribution of more than $23,000,000 to producers in the prairie provinces but did not indicate when the payments would start.

The payment results from the new wheat price policy announced by the government last July under which the initial payment on wheat was increased from $1.25 to $1.35 a bushel, retroactive to the 1945-46 crop year. The payment thus applies to producers who delivered wheat to the Canadian Wheat Board between August 1, 1945, and July 31, 1946.

Mr. MacKinnon said the payment would be made out of the Wheat Board surplus on 1945-46 operations. He added that producers would receive the payment through their local elevator agents. When the payment is made, the producer will surrender his 1945-46 producer certificate and will receive instead an official receipt which he should retain in case a further payment is made on board operations during the five-year period from Aug. 1, 1945, and July 31, 1950.

The original producers' certificates as surrendered by producers will be forwarded to the head offices of the elevator companies making the payment and later will be transferred to the board.

Mr. MacKinnon stressed that "under no circumstances" should producers send their 1945-46 certificates to the head office of the board as the payment would be made through country elevators.

He said the board now has made available to producers approximately $125,000,000 during the last 30 months in payments in connection with the 1940, 1941, 1942, 1943 and 1945 crop accounts.

A Growing Nation

DURING THE WAR MUCH WAS HEARD of Canada's growing status among the other nations of the world. The great amount of energy and ability which was put into the war effort was responsible, in part at least, for this rapid rise to a foremost place in world affairs, for it was recognized that Canada's contribution to the Allied cause in both men and resources was far in excess of what might have been expected of a nation with such a relatively small population. The same qualities which made possible this outstanding achievement still exist in Canada today and it is the responsibility of the people to see that the country continues to progress in peace, as it did during the war.

A Distinctive Canadian Type

The subject of Canada's growing importance as a nation has been referred to by the Right, Hon. Vincent Massey, C.H., P.C., who has recently returned from London, after serving for some years, including the duration of the war, as Canadian High Commissioner to Great Britain. Mr. Massey has told of the increase of Canada's prestige in Britain, and of the admiration felt there for Canada and the Canadian people. Much of this he has attributed to the contribution made by this country to the winning of the war, but Mr. Massey has also expressed the opinion that out of the war has come a distinctive Canadian type, an increasing awareness of Canadian nationhood, and a developing unity which he said could be termed "an intricate domestic pattern in a complicated country."

Faith Alone Is Not Sufficient

Mr. Massey has also told the Canadian people that he has great faith in the future of this country, but he has warned that faith alone is not sufficient to solve our difficulties "although they will not be solved without it." It is timely that we should be reminded of the need to look to the future and to continue to work for the development of the country both through faith and through action. At present we are faced with a number of difficult problems including labour unrest, housing, immigration and others. Many of the situations which have arisen were not anticipated during the war, and Canada today is not as most of her people hoped it would be in the second year of peace. We have, however, much to lose if we do not unite and solve the problems of peace as we did those of the war, and look forward at all times to developing to the utmost the great possibilities of the country in which we live.

Still A Mystery

British Research Workers Have Studied Grass Disease For 50 Years

British veterinarians are about to try again to solve the mysteries of "grass disease" which has baffled research workers for almost 50 years. The disease, which appeared in Scotland just after the South African War, is quickly fatal to most cases. Incidence is highest among young animals and those which recover are of little working value.

For 40 years the malady has been traced to its toll in Scotland and in recent years it spread to Northern England and even the Midlands.

Professor William C. Miller, first director of the new Equine Research Station established by the Veterinary Educational Trust at Newmarket, is making a study of "grass disease" one of his first projects and has asked for expert help.

EFFECT DOUBLE CURE

British Physicians Transfer Glands And Beat Addison's Disease

LONDON—A delicate gland-grafting operation apparently has cured a 32-year-old woman of dread Addison's disease and simultaneously brought health to another woman from whom the grafted gland was taken, the authoritative British Medical Journal reported.

The first patient suffered from inadequate supply of secretion from the suprarenal gland and had been kept alive by large salt dosages. Physicians found another woman, 21, suffering from an over-active suprarenal gland. The over-active gland in less than an hour was grafted successfully to the blood vessels of the other's abdominal wall.

Three weeks later the victim of Addison's disease left the hospital and had only one brief bit of trouble during the early period of convalescence. Now, 1½ years later, she is apparently cured. The patient from which the gland was removed also made a "good recovery."

Addison's disease is a chronic ailment, usually fatal, caused by insufficient secretion of adrenalin from the suprarenal gland. Its symptoms include anemia.

SMILE AWHILE

One of the guests turned to a man by his side to criticize the singing of a woman who was trying to entertain them.

"What a terrible voice! Do you know who she is?"

"Yes," was the answer. "She's my wife."

"Oh, I beg your pardon. Of course, it isn't her voice. Really, it's the stuff she has to sing. I wonder who wrote that awful song?"

"I did," was the answer.

Mr. Dumbly was waiting to be served in the boot shop. Presently a girl assistant approached her.

"What size shoe do you wear, madam?" she inquired.

"Well," said Mrs. Dumbly, "I bought size four last time."

The girl looked puzzled.

"Yes, madam, I remember," she replied; "but you're buying this pair for yourself, aren't you?"

In the lounge of a large hotel much patronized by black market merchants, two doctors were comparing notes. One remarked to the other: "I've got a great many cases of hysteria."

It was the fog end of a rather dull evening in the parlor. After a long silence he said: "I wish I had money, I'd travel."

She looked at him a moment and then reached for her handbag. "How much do you need?" she inquired.

The new Land Girl was doing her best, but she was evidently finding everything on the farm very strange.

Having had an incubator explained to her, and been asked if she fully understood it, she put her hand on one side and, with a puzzled look, replied:

"Yes, but where does the hen sit?"

She (reading sign over box office): "Oh, Phil! It says 'Entire Belong, 25c.'"

Phil: "Let's get it so we can be all alone."

A rich and pompous man was staying at a small country tavern in England and as he entered the breakfast room the only other visitor present rose to his feet.

"Sit down, sit down," boomed the great and rich one, condescendingly.

"Why," asked the other, "can't I get up for some marmalade?"

Standard Is High

But Canadian Bacon For British Market Should Be Identified

There is no reason why Canada cannot compete successfully with Denmark in the British bacon market. Agriculture Minister D. L. Campbell of Manitoba told the Manitoba Swine Breeders' association.

Reporting on a visit to Britain, Mr. Campbell said Canadian bacon lacked proper identification and consequently a lot of British people thought an improvement in quality was needed. However, United Kingdom experts were "very satisfied" with the high standards maintained during the war.

The minister urged steps to be taken to identify Canada's bacon exports and to distinguish it from inferior brands of other countries.

General Assembly Of United Nations Vast Organization Set Up To Keep World Peace

(By Thomas J. Hamilton in the New York Times)

THE General Assembly of the United Nations, which meets at Flushing Meadows, N.Y., is made up of delegates from fifty-one nations. This meeting on the site of the former World's Fair is the second part of the Assembly's first annual session, which convened in London last Jan. 10.

The fifty-one nations represented, whose permanent structure was established at San Francisco in June, 1945, are banded together for the purpose of keeping the peace. For months, in the various branches of the United Nations organization, they have been struggling to perfect machinery that will preserve international harmony and avert the catastrophe of another world war.

While the United Nations are wrestling with the problem of keeping the peace, the work of making that peace is still going on. The Paris conference that closed recently represents but one phase of this difficult task.

The Big Four of the Paris Conference are, of course, the dominant powers in the United Nations—together with China, which also has a permanent seat on the powerful Security Council and a consequent right to the jointly guarded veto. As members of the United Nations, the Big Four will take part in the coming discussions of the General Assembly and the Security Council, which will be held during the Assembly's session. At the same time their representatives will also be meeting in New York in an attempt to agree upon the draft treaties prepared at Paris and also upon the most complex problem of all, the peace terms to be granted Germany.

Thus the Big Four will be acting in two separate capacities. As the peace makers, they will have the responsibility of approving the peace terms and settling the war. As members of the United Nations, they and their associates are charged with the duty of preserving the peace once it is made—and, in the process, of safeguarding human rights and improving economic and social conditions throughout the world.

The United Nations organization can be considered as consisting of these six major divisions:

- I.—The General Assembly.
- II.—The Security Council.
- III.—The Economic and Social Council.
- IV.—The Trusteeship Council.
- V.—The International Court of Justice.
- VI.—The Secretariat.

The General Assembly is the parliament of the fifty-one members of the U.N., which, under the Charter, is dedicated to the maintenance of international co-operation in the political field and in "the economic, social, cultural, educational and health fields" and to "the realization of human rights and fundamental freedoms for all."

Outside the Assembly the three most important organs of the United Nations are the Security Council, the Economic and Social Council, and the Trusteeship Council.

The Security Council's duty is to investigate all international disputes, propose peaceful methods of settling such disputes and, in the event of a continued threat to world peace, to call on United Nations members to involve diplomatic and economic sanctions against the offending nation, and as a final recourse to take military action.

The Economic and Social Council is authorized to study and make recommendations on social, economic, educational and health questions; to set up specialized agencies to deal with these subjects and to co-ordinate the activities of these agencies.

The Trusteeship Council, as yet to be established, will supervise the administration of former mandated territories and other territories taken away from enemy countries.

These three Councils and the General Assembly are related in their functions. The Assembly elects non-permanent members of the Security Council and of the Trusteeship Council and all members of the Economic and Social Council. The three Councils are obliged to make periodic reports to the Assembly. In the case of the Security Council the Assembly has no power to alter its decisions, but it has the right to discuss and criticize them and exert moral pressure by making recommendations about them.

The Assembly has final authority over the reports of the Social and Economic Council. The agreements between the United Nations and the specialized agencies under the jurisdiction of the Economic and Social Council must also be approved by the Assembly, and where it has been authorized the Assembly provides contributions to the budgets of these agencies. Like the Economic and Social Council, the Trusteeship Council is under the authority of the Assembly.

The International Court of Justice is devoted to the arbitration of all international disputes submitted to it and acts as adviser to the United Nations on legal matters.

The Secretariat is the major administrative body of the United Nations.

These six divisions of the United Nations constitute a very complicated structure, which relies on the system of checks and balances that characterizes the American Constitution.

However, there is no Supreme Court to settle jurisdictional disputes within the organization, and dominating all its activities is the power residing in the Big Five.

This power is exercised by the Big Five in the Security Council, where, in all matters that do not concern questions of procedure, a decision cannot be made without the affirmative vote of each of the Big Five. Thus a veto by any one of these powers can prevent the Security Council from taking any action whatsoever. Even any attempt to amend the Charter is subject to the veto. The Charter provides that amendments to it shall come into force after they have been adopted by a two-thirds majority of the Assembly and ratified by a two-thirds majority of the Governments of the member nations, including the Big Five.

This is a general way in the manner in which the U.N. and its main bodies operate.

Aid For Blind

Electronic Device Enables Reading By Converting Printed Letter To Sound

PHILADELPHIA—An electronic reading out for the blind which converts printed letters into recognizable sounds was demonstrated publicly for the first time at the closing session of the autumn meeting of the American Philosophical Society.

The device may eventually make it possible for the blind to read without printed matter being transcribed into Braille. It weighs only about five pounds and consists of a stylus with which the reader scans the printed page and an amplifying unit resembling a hearing aid.

The instrument developed after several years of research, was demonstrated by its inventors, Dr. V. K. Zworykin, director of electronic research for the Radio Corporation of America, and L. E. Elroy, Dr. Zworykin stated that future developments might result in the actual spelling of the separate letters of the alphabet and perhaps phonetic reading by means of the equipment.

In using the device, the blind person moves the stylus, which resembles a large fountain pen, over the printed page. A small beam of light in the point reflects the shape of the letter to a phototube, which in turn operates an amplifying tube. Through an ear attachment the reader hears a series of high frequency sounds in varying combinations.

Blind persons now being taught to distinguish the particular sound of each letter in experiments being conducted at several laboratories, Dr. Zworykin reported.

AN OLD PRODUCT

In these days of butter rationing and no margarine, it is interesting to note that margarine was first developed by a French chemist in 1870 to ease a fat-shortage resulting from the Franco-Prussian War.

Proteins Necessary

But Many Other Foods Can Be Used In Place Of Meat

You can live—very well, too—without any meat at all. But you cannot live without protein. And there are many other protein foods beside meat in your market today.

These non-meat proteins are not substitutes for meat. They are meat's equal as protein sources. To stay well and happy, eat liberally of them. Milk and cheese are first rate sources of protein. Use them even more during the meat shortage.

For children between one and three years, a quart of milk a day supplies three-quarters of the protein. For those up to 13 years, a quart supplies at least half. All these are good sources of protein as well as minerals and vitamins: Poultry, fish, eggs, dried beans, peas and nuts.

The average man needs more protein a day than the average woman. So give the man an extra serving of fish, eggs or food, more whole grain bread, and a second glass of milk.

Boys and girls around 16 need more protein foods than anyone else. That is their growing period. Protein foods are essential to growth.

No matter how much food, fish or eggs you serve as your main dish, get some extra protein food into your other dishes. Use nuts in bread, chopped over puddings, or eat salted in an in-between snack. Use cheese in spaghetti and noodle dishes, grated over casseroles, in soups, sliced or melted in sandwiches. Be liberal with peanut butter. Cook with milk. Combine dried beans and lentils with lettuce sauces into baked dishes. Serve whole wheat bread frequently. Add oatmeal and oat porridge to grain cereals to soups and sauces.

Steam-generated electricity requires approximately 100,000 gallons of water for each ton of coal used.

Canadian Wheels Of Industry Expect To Hit Full Stride During The Winter Months

THE Canadian industrial machine, operating since V-J day more than a year ago at an erratic pace as a result of reconversion problems and strikes, is expected to hit its full stride within the next few months. Industries are that peacetime production of Canadian industry will reach an all-time high during the winter.

Settlement of the 81-day basic steel strike appears to have sounded the note for a series of strike settlements which will bring peace on the industrial front. Accompanying the settlements and flowing from the wave of summer strikes are wage increases averaging in most cases about 12 cents an hour.

Although the war was primarily responsible for the lack of goods, domestic labor strike has not helped the production front either. Long drawn-out strikes at Canadian and American steel plants and automobile factories have seriously hampered production.

The effects of the war on some durable consumer goods can be seen by comparing production before and after 1941. In the four years, 1938-1941 about 37,000 washing machines were produced in Canada. From 1942 to 1945 the output amounted to only about 126,000. The situation is even worse in regard to refrigerators. In the same four years, 1938-1941 production was about 222,000. In 1942-1945 less than 41,000 were produced—nine months production at the pre-war rate.

Production of automobiles also showed a marked decline in 1942-1945 when a meagre 13,000 cars were made. In 1939-1941 production totaled 213,000.

Steel, that precious metal, without which production would be impossible, is sadly lacking due to recent strikes in both Canadian and American steel plants. Canada depends on the U.S. for much of her steel, but as a result of labor disputes in the U.S. early in 1946, imports were cut considerably. It is estimated that imports will total 600,000 tons and may well be as low as 450,000 tons. Canada requires 900,000 tons of imported steel.

Resultant steel supplies for 1946 will be far below the 1945 level of three million tons or the estimated three and one-quarter million tons Canada needs to keep in step with her production program.

As farm equipment and building supplies are top priority products for this year a large proportion of available steel supplies will be diverted to these uses.

Diversion of steel to priority programs however, has not completely stopped production of metal consumer goods and the production upswing started early this year.

In March, 1946, 8,329 washing machines were manufactured. This is more than the average monthly output rate in 1938 and 1939, though slightly less than in 1937. Production for the first two quarters of 1946 totaled 50,263.

Output of electric refrigerators in April, 1946, totaled 5,229, compared with about 4,200 for each month in 1939. Total production for the first six months of this year reached 25,300.

Although only three passenger cars were produced in October, 1945, April, 1946, saw 9,863 automobiles roll off Canadian assembly lines equalling the 1939 monthly production rate. By June of this year 40,709 cars were produced in Canada with 12,269 going to the export market.

Have Chosen Insignia

Members Of Canada's Bomber Group Will Wear Lapel Pins

Members of Canada's mighty bomber group which blasted every major European target in the Second Great War, will sport their own lapel insignia. Known as R.C.A.F. "G" Group, which operated Wellington, Halifax and Lancaster bombers from bases in Yorkshire, England, Canada's "bomber boys" have chosen a small circular pin with the word "Canada" at its base. On its blue background is embossed a silver rosette upon which is imposed a red maple leaf centred by the figure "6". Through the "6" there is a facsimile of a bomb, in grey.

NORMAL FATIGUE

It is natural to be tired—healthfully fatigued, after an expenditure of energy, and the Department of National Health and Welfare, Ottawa, reminds Canadians that this is part of the process of living. The Department also points out that fatigue produces waste products and that rest and sleep are essential to restoration of body cells. So all must have sufficient sleep for health, with children needing more rest and sleep to compensate for growth and youthful frolics.

JUST A REMINDER

As a grim reminder to motorists a black flag will fly from the Bang building near the corner of Dunfries and Pape avenues, Toronto's second worst accident spot. On accident-free days the flag will be replaced by the Union Jack.

Gandhi's Faith Shaken

Feels His Belief That He Would Live To Be 125 Years Is Uncertain

NEW DELHI—Mohandas K. Gandhi said in an interview that he was "shaken" in his belief that he would live to be 125 years old. The Hindu leader is 77.

He attributed his uncertainty to loss of "equanimity" recently over what he said he considered an unwarranted distribution of food which his co-workers had planned during a ceremony in connection with his birthday.

He said he was feeling as well as he had any right to feel, but that he now was uncertain of making his goal.

Rejendra Prasad, food member of the cabinet in the interim government of India, had come to preside at a flag-raising in connection with Gandhi's birthday and peanuts, raisins and other fruits were to be served to Harijan (untouchable) children and volunteers in his camp.

"I flared up madly," Gandhi said. "I lost my balance. You can use any adverb or adjective you like to describe it."

Gandhi said he considered it an insult to the food minister to give food away needlessly in his presence and to children and others "who were not in need."

"It was then I discovered my failure. This loss of self-control has cost some years of my life—which it will be possible to regain if I regain my equanimity—or gain it. That is the humbler way to say it."

His anger flared up, he explained, because "severe morsels of food has to be husbanded. If we do it, there will be no shortage."

"India is the last country in the world that should have that food—if our rulers knew their business—and there was no blackmarketing," he said.

FREIGHT RATES?

One of the very interesting proposals now being put forward strongly is the prices of merchandise should be equalized all over Canada regardless of the freight rates. A few of the leading manufacturers have already adopted this policy and our reports are that it seems to be workable. This plan would quieten some of the most serious complaints from Western Canada and the Maritime Provinces and the spirit of confederation would receive a great boost. Federal government legislation would be necessary and may be within the power of the government. Increases in freight rates, if they are necessary, would then be spread fairly among all our people.

THE OPTIMIST

His horse drowned dead and his mule went lame
He lost three cows in a polar game;
Then a cyclone came down on a summer day
And carried the house where he lived away.
Then an earthquake rattled all the wood
And swayed all the ground where his house had stood.
Did he grieve when his old friends failed to call?
Did he weep when the earthquake buried all?
Did he weep or sigh? Did he moan or cry?
When standing room was left him still.
And taking his hat from his old bald head,
And with noise sublime, he gently said,
"The last six months have been hard, you bet,
But I have not had the malpox yet."

WHEAT QUOTAS ELIMINATED

On Tuesday last it was announced by Hon. J.A. MacKinnon, minister of trade and commerce, that all quotas would be removed on the marketing of wheat. The minister said that up to November 15th, 201 million bushels of wheat had been marketed from the 1946 crop, and country elevators held 86,560,000 bushels.

Since harvest time there has been a steady increase in the marketing quotas, varying according to conditions at each shipping point. At the time the minister made his announcement there were comparatively few shipping points in Alberta at which there were any marketing restrictions. Deliveries of wheat in Alberta from August 1st to November 15th totalled 57.3 million bushels compared with 38.3 millions for the same period last year.

RADAR VERSUS SMUGGLER

Hardly a month passes without some new adaptation of radar in Britain, birthplace of the scientific wonder. United Kingdom revenue cutters are now being fitted with radar for the purpose of combating smuggling around the coasts of the United Kingdom. The first cutter to be so equipped—she bears the significant name of "Vigilant"—has her headquarters in the Thames estuary at Gravesend, and she will patrol between southeast England and the Continent. It is common knowledge that radar penetrates the thickest fog and it should therefore prove to be a very valuable weapon in the fight against smugglers and their methods.

Totalitarianism steps in when more and more people take less and less responsibility for their country.

WESTCOTT NEWS NOTES

We are pleased to see our storekeeper's wife, Mrs. Swanby, out at her old stand again, after being quarantined while her son Tom had the measles.

We see Mr. Don MacLaren busy with figures in the Red & White store in town and we regret to hear that he is leaving the farm and is moving his family into Didsbury shortly.

The crowd gathered at Hernan Dageford's last Friday to officially open up the skating season. The ice was perfect and everybody had a fine time. We hear that there will be hot dogs etc. for sale every Friday night from now on, so come out and enjoy yourselves.

Mr. Ted Dageford spent the week end at home.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Konechuh were Calgary visitors over the week end.

Mr. John Jacobsen was able to resume his work at Sundre on Monday after being laid up for some time with a badly smashed hand.

We are sorry to hear of more measles cases in the surrounding district all from the result of a recent social function at the Westcott school. Westcott district is fairly well over it however, with the exception of little Donald McLaren who is just a recent victim of the disease.

Our sympathy is extended to the Umahk family of the Garfield district and well-known at Westcott, who's mother passed away last week. A son, Kenry, is well-known in hockey circles in these parts, having played with the Cremona team for several years.

MELVIN NEWS NOTES

Mrs. Ross Youngs returned home from the hospital last week with the wee boy, Elmer D-an.

On Tuesday, November 22nd, a very pretty shower was held at the home of Mrs. A.E. Krebs in honor of Jeanne Durand, bride elect of the month. Games and exercises were enjoyed by the guests after which a table loaded with gifts for the bride was set under the arches which were decorated with bells and streamers.

Jeanne thanked her friends for all the lovely gifts and the afternoon came to an end with a delicious lunch served by the bride.

There will be a dance in the Melvin hall Friday December 13. Look for further announcements.

WAGE CONTROLS LIFTED

Abolition of wartime wage and salary controls, effective at midnight Saturday, Nov. 30th, were announced by Prime Minister King.

The government's action means a return to the normal peacetime collective bargaining and negotiations between employers and employees. Only exception to the order is cases already pending which, Mr. King said, would be dealt with "respectively."

The announcement came in a prepared statement issued by the Prime Minister while he was in Quebec to attend a testimonial dinner for Rt. Hon. Louis St. Laurent, Minister of Justice and External Affairs.

The wage and salary regulations, which dated back to 1941, were an integral part of the anti-inflation program and required the approval of government bodies before wages or salaries were increased. In general the wages order, administered by the Labor government, applied to workers paid on an hourly and low-paid and white-collar workers.

The salaries order, under the finance department, applied to higher paid employees and executives. The various boards controlling wages and salaries will remain in existence until cases pending have been dealt with. After that they will be disbanded.

LESS LIVESTOCK ON CANADIAN FARMS

According to the survey of the principal classes of live stock on Canadian farms as at June 1, 1946, a decrease in number was recorded in all classes—horses, cattle, sheep, and hogs—compared with 1945, as follows:

Horses, 2,296,850 in 1946, a decrease of 197,550 since 1945. Milk cows, 3,013,000 in 1946, a falling off of 84,200 compared with the numbers at the corresponding date in the previous year. Cattle (including milk cows), 10,383,000 in 1946, a decrease of 573,600 from 1945. Sheep and lambs, 3,278,400 in 1946, a drop of 243,400. Hogs, 5,277,300 in 1946, is a decrease of 648,300.

The decline of horses on farms occurred principally in the Prairie Provinces. In regard to sheep, the only Province showing a gain over 1945 in numbers is Saskatchewan where a slight increase is recorded (513,400 head as against 519,200 in 1945). The all-over reduction in numbers of sheep for Canada was 243,400 or 6.7 per cent.

RESULTS OF VACCINATION AT AGASSIZ

All heifer calves raised on the Dominion Experimental Farm, Agassiz, B.C., during the past five years have been vaccinated against abortion with strain 19 vaccine supplied by the Dominion Animal Research Institute, Hull, Que. The results have been very encouraging, says W. H. Hicks, Superintendent at the Farm. At present there are only sixteen females in the herd over five years of age that have not been treated, forty younger ones that have been vaccinated with five heifer calves still too young.

A regular blood test program has been carried out in conjunction with the vaccination. The entire herd was tested six times a year up to and including 1944, but since then four times annually was deemed sufficient. All calves were negative to the blood test previous to vaccination and all were positive afterward, although two had to be treated the second time. All were blood tested monthly afterward until they reacted negatively. No heifer was bred while she was positive, but on the other hand none had to be held over past the normal breeding age.

The calves were four to eight months of age when vaccinated with an average of six months. Some became negative four months after treatment, with the average just six months. One heifer went ten months after vaccination before becoming negative, but she was bred when twenty-two months old and will freshen at two-and-one-half years.

During the entire five years there has not been a known abortion in the herd, and with only one exception there has been no suspicion of reaction to the blood test. Vaccinated calves of course excepted. This cow, No. 416, was positive in December, 1945, and on re-testing gave the same result, so was slaughtered. As this cow stood facing the door where visitors passed by the theory is that outside contact has been the cause.

Some vaccinated heifers have been sold from the herd since 1941.

NOTHING COMPENSATES FOR LOSS OF LAND

Farmers who talk of going on strike in order to enforce their demands on society, should not forget that they are a privileged class, privileged in that they are allowed exclusive possession of a portion of the earth's surface, on which the human race depends for food.

If all men have equal rights to live on the earth, it follows that all men have equal rights to the use of the earth on which their living depends. But the earth of itself will not supply our needs unless it is cultivated. We believe that the best way to get the earth to yield its fruits is to allow those who cultivate it to own the land on which they work. For this reason, society grants the farmer the privilege of owning his land. This is a privilege not to be lightly cast aside. To own a piece of land on which he can earn his living and raise his family, with freedom to farm it in his own way, without let or hindrance from anyone, is the greatest privilege society can confer on a man.

But, if the farmers decide that they will cultivate the land only on their own terms, and refuse to supply food to society until those terms are complied with, society might change its mind and decide the private ownership of land is not the best way to get the world fed. It might decide to socialize the land and make the farmer work as a hired man, under a boss who will have power to see that he obeys whatever orders are issued by those in authority. If that should happen it would be a dreary day for agriculture, for there is nothing society can do for the farmer that could compensate him for the loss of his land and his freedom.—Contributed by a farmer to "The Scene."

This may be the darkest hour of history. Have you any light for it?

DAMP GRAIN ENCOURAGES MITE ACTIVITY

Grain mites frequently cause considerable damage to wheat and some coarse grains when grain is stored in a damp condition. With unfavourable harvest weather over much of Alberta this season, a great deal of grain is going into storage with an abnormally high moisture content. This will encourage mite activity.

Grain growers are advised by the Field Crops Branch to check their damp stored grain from time to time, especially after the turn of the year. If grain in the centre of the bin is found to be especially warm the presence of grain mites should be suspected. To arrest the damage, the grain may be shovelled or elevated from one bin to another. If activity of mites is not checked early the damage multiplies rapidly.

Further information and control recommendations may be obtained from your District Agriculturist, or from the Field Crops Branch of the Alberta Department of Agriculture.

FARM LAND PRICES IN U.S.A.

For some time a boom in the price of farm lands has been going on in the United States. On July 1st, the average price in 17 American states was more than during the tremendous boom in 1920. It is stated that the price of farm land in that nation is still going up at the rate of one per cent per month on the average. The United States bureau of agricultural economics places the average price of farm land for the nation at $55.50 an acre. Some farm sales, however, have been made at as high as $350 an acre.

Economists are warning farmers in the United States that the present prices for farm products will not hold for more than three years at the longest. They say that the boom is likely to end in another "bust." The true value of farm land should be based on the long-time earning power of such land. Average prices received for farm products during the past 15 or 20 years and the productivity of land provide the best basis on which to calculate the value of land.

A pretty wedding was solemnized in the Evangelical Church, Didsbury, on Saturday, November 23rd at 6 o'clock, when Dorothy Joye Hixson was united in marriage to Raymond G. Hayne, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Hayne. Rev. A. J. Grams performed the ceremony which took the form of a candle-light service.

The bride, given in marriage by Mr. Lloyd McCall, entered the church to the strains of the wedding march played by Mrs. Hilda Dawson. She wore a gown of white satin with train, and her finger-tip veil was gathered into a bandeau of white flowers. She carried a bouquet of red roses.

Miss Muriel Hayne, sister of the groom, was bridesmaid and wore blue sheer with matching veil, and carried a bouquet of pink carnations. Little Grace McCall, niece of the groom, was flower girl, dressed in pink and carried a bouquet of white baby mums.

The groom was supported by Mr. Rex Dawson.

During the signing of the register, "I Love You Truly" was sung by the groom's sister, Mrs. Lloyd McCall.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the basement of the church for a few relatives and friends of the bride and groom, at which Mrs. James Hooper and Mrs. Greenville McCall served. The bride's table was centred with a three tiered wedding cake.

The newlyweds left by car for a honeymoon in Calgary and Banff. Upon their return they will reside east of Didsbury on the farm of the groom's father.

HERE'S A GOOD HUNTING STORY

Sam Smith is responsible for a true story coming from Turner Valley, and all linked up with pursuit of pheasant.

It seems that a party of Turner Valley hunters went over to Brooks for pheasant. They weren't having much luck, so one suggested that they go to a certain farmer and ask permission to shoot on his land. This farmer was known as hostile to hunters, and a tough guy to handle, but he did have pheasants in his fields. So after some consultation it was decided to send the best talker in the outfit up to the house to get in his smoothest licks.

After some preliminary sparring the farmer at last said: "Well, I tell you, I've got an old horse over in that field yonder that should be shot. He is on his last legs, but I haven't the heart to shoot him myself. If you shoot that horse for me, you and your friends can hunt that field."

So the Turner Valley spellbinder returned to his party. "Any luck?" they asked. "Sure" he replied. "We can work that field over there." So with no further conversation they set up.

As they moved up the field, the old horse loomed up, hobbling and decrepit. With not a word of explanation, the man who had interviewed the farmer, said "Well, boys I've always wanted to shoot a horse. So here goes."

Up went his gun, and without more ado he shot the old horse. His companions were horrified, and their stricken exclamations can be imagined. Then with a wild light in his eye he exclaimed "And what's more I've always wanted to shoot a man too." As one man, his four companions leaped on him, took his gun away, trussed him up, hauled him back to the car and dumped him in and sat on him. They thought he had gone stark crazy.

They took him back to the farmer's house, where they intended to phone the R.C.M.P. In the meantime the man lay on his back insanely giggling and spitting.

They said to the farmer: "A terrible thing has happened!" "Oh has it," he said, "but what I want to know is whether you shot my horse."

"Yes," they admitted, "he shot the horse." "Good!" he said, "That's just fine. That's what I wanted. Go right ahead with your shooting." Then the mystified hunters thought that the farmer had gone crazy too.

DUPONT-DEVOLIN

A quiet wedding was solemnized in Olds on Wednesday, December 20th at 1 p.m., when Lola Maude, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Devolin of Didsbury, became the bride of Mr. Emile Dupont, oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Dupont of Didsbury. Rev. Father McLellan officiated at the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gown in traditional ivory satin with a Mary Queen of Scots headpiece and veil of embroidered net. She carried a bouquet of red roses. Her only ornament was a matching pearl necklace and carrying set, gift of the groom.

Miss Muriel Devolin, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid and wore a turquoise gown with silk jersey bodice and net skirt, and carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

Mr. Robert Youngs acted as best man.

Carole Devolin, who was flower girl, wore a long yellow sheer dress. Little David Dupont carried the ring.

Following the ceremony a reception was held for 35 guests in the Rosebud Hotel dining room. The bride's table was centred with a three-tiered wedding cake, flanked by white and pink streamers and bouquets of white chrysanthemums.

Father McLellan proposed the toast to the bride, to which the groom responded. Another fine toast was given by the groom's uncle, J.W. Gauthier of Calgary.

A wedding dance in their honor was held the same evening in the Melvin Hall at which an enjoyable time was had by all.

The happy couple left on a short honeymoon in Edmonton and Calgary. For travelling the bride changed to a boucle suit of aqua nuaureen shade worn with pink blouse and matching accessories. Her suit was topped by a gray coat trimmed with red fox fur.

On their return Mr. and Mrs. Dupont will take up residence in Didsbury.

Perfect planners should remember that not all people are perfect. Among the least perfect are the perfectionists.

WHO DOES YOUR PRINTING ?

All business houses need more or less printed matter, all of which is within the possibilities of the local printer. Yet how many men are to pass up the home printer and let the orders go to city offices which have no interest whatever in rural communities except to get printing orders and the cash to pay for them.

Business men, remember that the home paper is constantly promoting the interests of the home community and you owe it to yourself and your local paper to back up these efforts by at least having your printed matter done locally.

WEDDINGS

RICHARDSON-DUPONT

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at Olds on Tuesday, Nov. 26th at 1 p.m., when Jeannine Louise, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Dupont of Didsbury, became the bride of John Francis, second oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. D.H. Richardson of Victoria. Rev. Father McLellan officiated at the ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a floor-length gown of white satin, with long pointed sleeves. Her floor-length veil of silk embroidered net was held in place with a white coronet and she carried a bouquet of red roses.

Olga Dupont, sister of the bride, was her only attendant and her gown of pale pink sheer was trimmed with little gold ball heads on skirt and bodice, and long sleeves. Her headpiece was a pink chapel veil held in place by a pink coronet of flowers. She carried a bouquet of yellow carnations.

Mr. Bobby Gilliland, a friend of the groom, acted as best man. The wedding march was played by Mr. Fred Penny of Olds. A song was rendered by Miss Lois Davis of Olds.

The bride's mother chose a cocoa brown dress with new bell sleeves, and wore a corsage of yellow roses. The groom's sister chose a pale blue dress trimmed with sequins and also carried a bouquet of yellow roses.

A delicious wedding dinner, given at the home of the bride's parents, was daintily served by the Misses Lois Krebs and Mary Ringheim.

The table was centred with a three-tiered wedding cake and pink candles at both ends of the table.

Mr. and Mrs. Richardson left by car for Victoria where they will spend the winter. For travelling the bride wore a powder blue wool suit with a pink blouse, and blue coat with blue hat and pink accessories.

series to match. Upon their return in the spring they will reside west of Olds.

LEESON-BURNS

The home of Mrs. Geo. A. Burns was the scene of a pretty wedding on November 30th when Marjorie Eileen was united in marriage to Mr. G. Carlton Leeson, son of Mrs. F.W. Leeson and the late Mr. Leeson.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. D. Whyte Smith before an arch of evergreen boughs, white bells and chrysanthemums.

The bride who was given in marriage by her eldest brother, G. Kenneth Burns, wore an afternoon frock of blue crepe with fuchsia sequin trim. She wore a tiny matching fuchsia feather hat with blue veiling and her corsage was of gardenias. Her only ornament was a pearl necklace, a gift of the groom.

Miss Gail Palmer of Calgary was bridesmaid and wore a soft blue-grey wool jersey frock with brown accessories. Her corsage was of tallisman roses.

Mr. Robert B. Leeson of Edmonton attended his brother as groomsman. The ceremony opened with a wedding prayer sung by Mrs. Lloyd McCaig, who also sang "O Perfect Love" during the signing of the register.

Mendelssohn's March and other wedding music was played by Miss Arlene Haste of Acme.

The reception followed with Mrs. N.S. Clarke and Mrs. F.W. Leeson pouring tea. The bride's table was centred with a three-tier wedding cake flanked by white tapers.

The happy couple left for a short honeymoon at Banff and other points. For travelling the bride chose a rose wool dress with grey-blue top coat and navy blue accessories and corsage of red roses.

A soldier who had just lost his three stripes for a slight infraction of regulations emerged from his C.O.'s tent muttering: "That guy certainly is a man of few words. He calls me in and says: 'Hello, sergeant; sit down, sergeant — get up private; good-bye, private.'"

NOTES FROM THE EAST

The Lone Pine W.I. bazaar and dance held on Friday last had a splendid turn out. The auctioneer, Fred Metz, did an excellent job in getting every cent possible for each article sold, for which the W.I. members are very grateful. The cakes, woolly dogs and stuffed animals sold especially well and total proceeds amounted to $85.00. Net proceeds will be announced after the next meeting.

The Honor Roll which was compiled by the Lone Pine W.I. was made by Mr. R. Dedels, and the frame made and donated by Chas. Mortimer, was presented to the Hall in memory of all the girls and boys who were in the services of World War II. On behalf of the W.I. we wish to thank Mr. Chas. Mortimer for his contribution and also to thank Mrs. Harvance for placing the Honor Roll in a frame and preparing it for presentation.

The winner of the door prize was Tommy Patterson who had ticket No. 96. The prize was a quilt and well worth winning.

The dance was somewhat of a failure when the Sunnyslope orchestra, previously engaged, failed to turn up. However, thanks to Mrs. E. Topley, Bill Hummel and Jack Halber, who played the piano, accordion and banjo respectively, the situation was saved. A couple of young chaps put on an act of fire eating, while Sid Rauner did the frog-hop around the hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Pete Schumaker and Roy Dowell spent Tuesday evening with Mrs. Dowell and Fred Metz.

Miss Ruth Reddekopp of Sunnyslope spent the week end with Evelyn Dowell, Mr. Sarge and daughter, calling en route to Sunnyslope, were guests for supper.

Miss Claire Wood spent the week end at her home and attended the bazaar.

A number of people from the East attended a very pretty wedding which took place on Saturday in Didsbury. Friends wish to extend best wishes to the happy couple, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Underhay.

Wedding bells have been ringing elsewhere in the East. Congratulations are in order to Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Haynes, and Mr. and Mrs. C. Leeson (nee Marjorie Burns).

The Misses Marilyn Coates, Lois Shells and Gladys were week end guests with Mrs. Harold Shells.

NOTES FROM THE WEST

Word has been received that Mr. and Mrs. Evans reached Kansas safely, making very good connections.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Hogg visited the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Wilson, at Cremona on Sunday. Mrs. J. Hoggwood was a Calgary visitor last Friday.

The Rugby W.I. completed a quilt for a burned-out family at the home of Mrs. O. Krebs last week and will make another for a family at Cremona at the home of Mrs. McInnis Sr. this week.

A big crowd attended the wedding dinner held by Mr. and Mrs. Ken Brian at Cremona last Friday. Quite a number were skating on the river on Sunday.

Miss Inez Panke was up from Calgary for the week end.

An alert copy reader on a paper couldn't believe it — the reporter's story of the theft of 2,025 pigs.

"That's a lot of pigs," he growled, and called the farmer to check the copy.

"Was it 2,025 pigs that were stolen?"

The victimized farmer replied: "Yeth."

"Thanks," said the copy reader, and corrected the copy to two sows and 25 pigs.

BURNSIDE NEWS NOTES

Funeral services for Mrs. Mary Ann Boulton, wife of J.B. Boulton, who once owned and operated the Rising Sun Ranch in the Burnside district, were held at the Gooder Funeral Home in Calgary on Monday, December 2nd. Age and ill health prevented Mr. Boulton Sr. from attending the ceremony, his place being taken by his son Jack.

Another son, Frederick, living in the east was also prevented from being present. The other principal mourners were Mr. and Mrs. Boulton's three married daughters, Beatrice, Lucy and Nellie and their families, and Mrs. Robt. McCulloch (granddaughter) and her husband.

Many old timers and intimate friends were in attendance. Among those from the Burnside district were Mr. and Mrs. Wm. McCulloch, Mr. and Mrs. Walter McCulloch, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. H. Mardon and son and Mrs. Thompson of Calgary.

Miss Mary Persinger has accepted a position nursing at Grace Hospital, Calgary.

Harry Richardson is sporting a nice new Chev.

All roads lead to the Lone Pine Hall next Friday, Dec. 6, to celebrate the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Underhay. This is strictly a social affair so be prepared to "spike the mainmast."

Mrs. Lewis Spraggins of Regina is visiting with her sister-in-law, Mrs. Butler.

We were pleased to hear that Mr. Spraggins Sr. is much better in health and convalescing in a nursing home at Didsbury.

Harry Richardson's young daughter, Evaline, had the misfortune while playing, to fall and crack the socket bone in her ankle. A very painful mishap and everyone hopes she will be fortunate enough to make a speedy recovery without any ill effects.

LEAGUE OF CANADA

protects TOPICS OF VITAL INTEREST

VACCINATION STILL NECESSARY

Most everybody knows what smallpox is, but not many of the present generation have seen a case. Smallpox is a killing disease, and it disfigures those it does not kill. Once the most dreaded of all diseases with epidemic which wiped out one-tenth of the population at a time, smallpox is a disease against which there is no natural immunity.

The disease may be almost forgotten, but there are still cases occurring in Canada. And, the recent outbreak on the United States of the Pacific Coast served as a warning that smallpox has not altogether disappeared.

However, it has been practically wiped out through vaccination—a protective process which immunizes the recipient. Vaccination should be repeated every seven years, or during an epidemic.

The Journal of the Canadian Medical Association stated recently that heavy post-war travel is facilitating the spread of smallpox into areas usually relatively free. The Journal stated that there is "definite risk" of scattered outbreaks in Canada and, because it could not be claimed that Canadians were adequately protected, suggested a campaign in support of vaccination and re-vaccination.

"Just A Mess Of Hoosy?" Says The Ottawa Journal

The Journal continues: "If the people who make a living getting out sheets on the stock market knew what was going to happen to the stock market they wouldn't be making their living getting out such sheets; they would all be multimillionaires. Actually, most of the people who publish and write for tip sheets are people who know very little of the world and economic forces which influence stock markets; the superficial, elementary things they say—often fargery they have picked up in board rooms—reveal them as definitely third rate."

Yet many people who ought to know better are victimized by such sheets, allow themselves to be taken in by the gibberish of hawks who couldn't for the life of them tell what Canada's production of trade was last year, let alone at present, and who wouldn't know one of Mr. Hieley's budget speeches from a sermon by Raymond Pease."

Of course, the best advice to investors and would-be investors, or speculators, is simply to deal with members of the established stock exchanges or the Investment Dealers' Association. Or if it is a new promotion without such sponsorship, there are reliable financial publications ready to give sound advice; and there is the Better Business Bureau, whose slogan is: "Investigate Before You Invest."

MADE NO CLEARER

The Windsor Star says many movements have originated with mystifying names, but a study of their theories has usually cleared matters up. This new business of existentialism trips them all, however. The word could not possibly mean anything to a layman, but after reading an exhaustive explanation, the mystery is made immeasurably deeper.

Britain Leads Other Nations In Development of Jet-Propelled Ship

British marine engineers expect to launch the first semi-jet-propelled ship next year, effecting "the greatest change in ocean transport since the transition from sail to steam," the London News Chronicle reported from Liverpool.

The secretly designed jet engine is based on the same principles as the gas turbine engine on land, is designed to develop 6,000 horsepower over long distances, and means that ships' boiler rooms can be eliminated for more cargo space the paper said.

The News Chronicle said British engineers are winning the jet-ship race against Norway, Sweden, and American scientists. It said the U.S. navy is building small jet-propelled naval vessels.

LOWER ACCOMMODATION RATES FOR TOURISTS

OTTAWA.—Accommodation for persons of low income will be provided in Canada's National Parks when the demand for home construction is met, Roy A. Gibson, director of the lands, parks and forests branch of the Resources Department, said.

Mr. Gibson was asked at a conference of provincial tourist officials if the department planned hotels or cabins for tourists whose vacations are short and of income limited.

He answered that "we intend if we can" to build such facilities but that "soldier housing" comes first.

Atomic Power Seen As Aid To Northland

Would Uncover Vast, Undeveloped Natural Resources

TORONTO.—Vast, undeveloped natural resources of northern Canada—hitherto impossible to uncover because of their distance from the supply centres—may become gainfully productive through application of atomic energy, H. A. Winne, supervisor of a $500,000,000 atomic plant in the state of Washington, said.

Mr. Winne, vice-president in charge of engineering policy for the General Electric company, is in charge of the Stanford engineering works, a plutonium-producing plant.

If we can develop atomic energy plants that could be installed in the far north, then it would mean the problem of power supply—how to get oil or coal or electricity into remote districts—would have been eliminated," he said in an interview.

"As a result it might be possible to open mines and other projects farther north than anyone has yet noticed."

Aside from this development, however, the impact of atomic energy on industrial methods would hardly be noticed.

Atomic plants would be used only as it is today. Atomic energy "will never replace hydro or coal or oil as power sources—it will only supplement them."

Britain's Latest Battleship Will Be Used For Royal Visit To Africa

When the Royal Family visit South Africa next February they will travel to Capetown in H.M.S. Vanguard, Britain's latest-built capital ship. Designed as a capital fighting unit of the United Kingdom Fleet, the "Vanguard" has ample quarters for a commander-in-chief and staff officers and it is the existence of this accommodation that has made it possible in a short time and with comparatively small alterations to adapt the ship for the Royal Family and entourage.

Flowers For London

Blossoms From Scilly Islands To Be Shipped For Winter Market

Acres on the Scilly Islands devoted to vegetables during the war soon will be blossoming again with narcissi, daffodils, arum lilies, calceolarias, and other flowers for London's winter markets.

Under most favorable prewar conditions, says the National Geographic Society, these islands 23 miles off England's southwest corner shipped about $5,000,000 individual blossoms a year. Flowers bloom out of doors the year round at a latitude 56 miles north of New York City.

The warm Gulf Stream gives the islands a mild temperature ranging from 46 to 58 degrees, Fahrenheit. Starting plants outdoors in September and October, the islanders can supply the London markets in December or early January by forcing blooms under glass.

Because of gales, the tenderest flowers have to be protected by masses of purple-flowering veronica and tall hedges. The gales may send a salt spray to spot and blacken blossoms. They also may ruin crops by heaving loaded ships in harbor until the flowers fade.

Scillonians who now number about 1,750, gradually turned florists some sixty years ago after a single harbor filled with flowers was sent on a trial basis to the London market. Before that time the islanders had supported themselves by farming, fishing, and more precarious means. Only five of the 140 islets and granite reefs are inhabited.

FLAVOR IS BETTER

The Agriculture Department Consumer Section home economist says the best flavored sauce is made without peeling the apples, and besides it is a time saver. Wash apples, quarter them and discard any decayed portions. Cook until soft in a covered pan, adding just enough water to prevent burning, and press through a strainer. Sweeten as desired.

SALT FOR HOGS

Experimental Evidence Shows That It Is Valuable Item

There is an old wives' tale that salt is poisonous to hogs. All late experimental evidence shows that, properly included in the ration, it is a very valuable item. A note from the Drovers' Daily Journal is interesting in this connection.

Last year at Swine Day, held annually at Purdue University, C. M. Vestal, in charge of hog feeding tests, reported that a penny's worth of salt saved 287 pounds of feed valued at $6.37. Hogs without salt gained only half as fast as those receiving it free-choice with their grain and supplement ration. During the 85-day test 81 pounds of extra gain was produced for each pound of salt consumed, $13 worth, based on the local price of hogs. The test was made with 50 lb. hogs.

"At this year's Swine Day Mr. Vestal reported on another test. He found that pigs receiving free-choice with their corn and supplement ration gained 75 per cent. faster than those without salt. The salted pigs had an average gain of 84 pounds, while the others gained only 48 pounds a head. For each pound of salt consumed there were 29 extra pounds of gain. This alone gave the salt a high value in the ration. Besides the extra gain there was a saving of $7.12 in the feed cost of 100 pigs of 250 lbs. when salt was fed, as compared with no salt in the ration. This saving amounted to $4.75 for each pound of salt fed."

Preserved In Glacier

Body Of Lizardlike Animal Was Washed Ashore On Alaska Coast

ANCHORAGE, Alaska.—Discovery of the body of a long, lizardlike animal—tentatively identified as a prehistoric tyrannosaurus or gorgonopsian—has been reported by home-steaders at Anchor point on Kachmak bay in Cook's inlet.

The find, believed to have been preserved in a glacier until washed out into the bay and then ashore, had head and forefeet virtually intact and measured 18 feet 10 inches from tip to tip, according to Anchorage residents who flew to the scene.

(The tyrannosaurus, a descendant of the gorgonopsian, stands 18 feet high and weighs 28 feet long, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica. The gorgonopsian is somewhat smaller and roamed the Alberta, Canada, region in the middle cretaceous period, some 65 to 85 million years ago.)

The animal, which washed ashore with some of the flesh still intact, was said by witnesses to have a tail five feet five inches long and two feet six inches wide at its juncture to the body. A head over two feet wide and three and a half feet long had a sharply pointed tooth row 18 inches long.

Make Good Students

Veterans Are Really Interested In Getting Ahead With Education

There was a time, in the twenties, when a young man having nothing better to do, went to a university. That produced the type associated with the phrase, "Joe College." He wore a conical coat, and paid little attention to his academic work. He was at the university for a lark.

He was a very different boy from the ex-serviceman who is in attendance at the universities now. Canadian university heads describe the veterans as already interested in their studies, not given to useless frivolity, and very intent on making up for the time given to service in the forces.

According to a survey made by the department of veterans' affairs as of Aug. 31, 1916, about 40,000 veterans are in the universities—Globe and Mail.

There are approximately 900 species of flowering plants, trees and ferns on the Hawaiian islands.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY—

ABSENT-MINDED GEORGE

By M. J. COLLINS

Copyright
Wheeler Newspaper Syndicate

To say that old George was absent-minded was to put it mildly, he could forget or mislay more things in ten minutes than an ordinary man could in a week.

He operated the corner grocery store and the only reason he made money was because he had a wife with her head in the right place.

The most noticeable thing in the store was a large old-fashioned safe that sat solidly opposite the door. George had bought it when he opened his store more than twenty years ago.

That morning one of his sister-in-law's children had not with an accident and George's wife had to go and help straighten out a very upset household.

"Now, don't go woolgathering!" She warned as she was leaving. "I haven't the slightest idea how long I'll be away but I'll phone and let you know how things are."

Business went on without a hitch and George was well pleased with himself, no muddling for him. Most of his losses were on a credit system and this was the day his customers generally cleared up their accounts.

At closing time he had almost a thousand dollars to lock up. Just before he was ready to leave his wife phoned. The accident wasn't as serious as first supposed and she would be home for supper. A short time later George drove home.

While they dined George heard all the details. His wife was so much taken up with what had happened that she forgot to ask how things had gone at the store.

This was the main's night off and he helped with the dishes. "How much money did we take in today? Did old man Pinsky carry his account?" She asked as he dried the last dish.

"Yes, yes he did. We took in almost a thousand dollars, and I put it away safe." He informed her with some pride.

"Are you positive of that, dear?" She asked softly.

"Yes, I'm tight and safe," he assured her. He put the dish towel on the rack behind the stove to dry. "I'm going to look over the paper and then go to bed. Bertha, I had a busy day at the store," He stifled a yawn.

"Why not take it upstairs and read in bed?" She suggested. "It would be much more restful."

"I think I will. It sounds like a good idea."

"The paper is in the magazine rack. I'll be up in a few minutes. I think I'll bring my knitting."

George awakened with a start. He shook his head trying to get his thoughts straightened out. Evidently he'd drifted off to sleep while reading the lights were out and the gentle sound of Bertha's breathing came from the other bed.

The dream! That's what had awakened him. George had been into the store and stolen the safe. Taken it clean away. He chuckled, not much danger of that, it weighed 700 lbs. Stretching out his full length he relaxed and then rolled over on his side to go to sleep. The money! Now he remembered, when Bertha phoned he'd forgotten it and left it sitting on the counter in the clear box. If he wasn't the added headed... Throwing aside the covers, he sat on the side of the bed. No sense in awakening Bertha.

"What's the matter, dear?" She was already awake. "I heard you twisting and turning and I wondered if you were sick." She switched on the bed lamp.

"When you phoned I forgot to put the money away," He told her ruefully.

"George!" She exclaimed with exasperation. "Will you ever learn! What are you going to do now?"

"I'm going down to the store and put it away." While he hesitated he told her about the dream. Bertha laughed when she heard of it. "Don't worry," she assured him, "you'll find it there in the very self-same spot."

In about half an hour he returned. "Everything all right, dear?" Bertha asked sleepily when she heard him.

"Yes, I did leave the money sitting on the counter but it's safely locked up now. Guess I'll never learn to remember anything," George grumbled as he rolled into bed.

Next morning they were at the store bright and early.

"George, you didn't lock the door!" Bertha cried with vexation. "You go from bad to worse!" Opening the door she walked in while George was still fumbling for his keys.

"I locked it, I'm positive!" He expostulated, but he had only Bertha's angry bark to talk to.

When he closed the door he immediately had a premonition that there was something amiss. Looking at the end of the store he realized what it was, there was only an empty space where the safe had always stood.

"Oh, my goodness, Bertha!" George jumped up and down with excitement, waving his arms and shouting, "It's gone, our safe, it's gone!" "Heavens to Betsy!" Bertha cried. "The police, I'll phone the police." And she rushed to the phone.

"What do you know?" George shook his head incredulously, after all these years.

About two hours later the police found the safe in a ravine on a side road about four miles from town. George drove out immediately to see what there was to be done. There was a constable on guard as well as a plain-clothes detective wearing a trench-coat. The safe door was blasted open and it was here.

"Could you give us a list of the contents?" the detective requested. "I'll help us in our work."

"Like George looked sheepish. "Well, to tell the truth when I bought the safe twenty years ago I forgot the combination, and the old fellow that sold it to me wouldn't tell me and I never did get around to getting it. We kept it just for show, officer. Always keep our money in a strong box under the counter."

Says Rheumatic Pain Runs in her Family

But Safeguards Health
With Kruschen

Many people seem to think, because a complaint runs in the family, that there is little they can do about it. On the contrary, all the more reason for taking steps to avoid it. Especially if that complaint is rheumatic pain. Read how one woman keeps free from it.

"Rheumatic pain runs in my family. My father suffered very badly with it. I have been taking Kruschen Salts, off and on, for about seven years, a little morning dose, in my first cup of tea. Kruschen is a great help in keeping rheumatic pain out of my shoulders. My general health is very good. I am fit and can do a day's work with anyone. I would not be without Kruschen!"—(Mrs.) A.B.S.

The whole secret of Kruschen is in its action upon the organs of elimination. Kruschen helps these organs to remove from the body the acid deposits which give rise to rheumatic pain. So try the morning dose of Kruschen for the next month or so. For rheumatic pain, take half to one teaspoon in hot water first thing in the morning. Two sizes 25c and 50c at your drug store.

Weekly Press Valued

The weekly press was the pioneer in journalism in this country and it has recorded history from generation to generation, said George James in a lecture on journalism at D'Arcy McGee High School, Montreal.

Mr. James, editor and publisher of The Bowmanville Statesman, outlined the development and the place of the weekly press in Canada.

He stated that the weekly has advanced with the times and through its national association has reached a position in a field of journalism of national benefit.

BUT IT WAS SOAP
Samuel Scheffel of East Weymouth, Mass., ordered some Second Great War army surplus commodities—and reports he received 4 bars of soap made for use in the civil war. On the label of each piece was the slogan, "Save soap to win the war," and the stamped signature, "Commander-in-chief, Abraham Lincoln."

The national salute to the American flag consists of one shot for each star therein.

Only Flowers Survived

Scarlet Geraniums in Field Mark Spot That Once Was Lillie

A patch of scarlet geraniums in a weed-grown field—that is the only indication today that humans ever lived on the spot that once was Lillie.

The flowers survived fire, explosion and intense burning operations of Nazi workmen, who even changed the course of a brook to erase all traces of Lillie. But the geraniums, left in a trampled garden when the woman who had tended them was shoved into a truck for the journey to Ravensbrueck concentration camp, have thrived in the midst of desolation.
